

AM/FM radio and TV do not have a monopoly on traffic and weather information. XM is providing a service to its subscribers with this information. We pay for this service and have chosen XM as our medium to receive it. Perhaps instead of trying to silence XM, the owners of the affected stations should become more competitive and offer better quality programming and signal strength to their listeners.